To the Rescue A Passion for Pit Bulls by Connie Bowman Pit bulls are my only passion in life. Growing up, I always felt ridiculed and misunderstood, like I didn't belong. I see myself in pit bulls. I am able to empathize with them, and in many ways, they remind me of myself. They have taught me to be a better person, to live in the moment, to forgive completely, to love unconditionally. I rescued my first pit bull about twenty years ago. At that time I never even heard of a pit bull. Since then, I have fallen head over heels madly in love with and have been rescuing them ever since. Rescuing has many rewards. From watching them transform from being terrified into learning how to play and knowing that it's okay. Holding them in my arms and finally feeling their bodies slowly relax. When I can get a dog out of a bad place and look deep into their sad eyes, I know they are thanking me. I rescue because I feel that I owe it to them for the countless times that they rescued me. I believe it is my mission, my calling. It is what God put me here to do. It is my purpose in life. There are so many who need help and deserve a second chance at a life filled with love, happiness, compassion, and understanding for they have filled my life with the same. To pay it forward. . . I rescue. For all of this. . . I rescue. Connie Bowman Author Connie Bowman was born an animal lover. Ever since she was very young, she wanted to give back to the animals the unconditional love that they...
